DR. QINGSHAN LI

ORTHODONTIST

My name is Dr. Qingshan Li, and I am a board-certified orthodontist with over 30 years of global experience in dentistry. I began my career in China, then practiced in Germany before moving to the United States. I earned my Ph.D. in Dentistry and completed postgraduate training in Restorative Dentistry at the University of Kiel in Kiel, Germany, where I also received specialty training in Orthodontics and Dento-Facial Orthopedics.

After relocating to the U.S., I became an Orthodontic Resident at the Eastman Institute for Oral Health (University of Rochester Medical Center) in Rochester, New York. I now reside in Chicago, where I treat patients at multiple office locations.

My dedication to orthodontics extends beyond patient care — I am deeply involved in research and the continuous advancement of the field. My work has been published in respected journals, and I've presented at both domestic and international orthodontic conferences. These seminars align with my commitment to integrating the latest technology and evidence-based innovations into my practice. I also take pride in teaching and mentoring future orthodontists at the University of Illinois Chicago (UIC) College of Dentistry. My Practice Philosophy

I am truly passionate about helping patients achieve healthy, confident smiles. My treatment philosophy focuses on Function, Esthetics, and Efficiency — correcting malocclusions and creating a functional bite while designing each treatment to enhance facial balance and beauty.

I utilize an efficient case management approach that helps complete treatment in less time, with up to 90% of cases treated without extractions. This approach minimizes risk, maximizes comfort, and ensures lasting results. Every treatment plan is built with precision and care, putting the “wow” factor into every smile — both during and after treatment.

I continuously explore new technologies and treatment methods to further improve outcomes and patient experience. My ultimate goal is to help every patient achieve an exceptionally beautiful smile that lasts a lifetime. Beyond the Practice

While orthodontics is my passion, I value balance in life. Outside of work, I enjoy swimming, traveling, and photography — but my greatest joy comes from spending time with my wife and daughter.
